Move aside, Oscar – this week's Wednesday's Child is all about Ashley! Born in 1994, Ashley is an engaging and energetic youth with a sense of adventure and a compassion for others who enjoys music, fashion, and movies. Did we say movies? Good thing it was Academy Award weekend because we were able to have Ashley walk the red carpet as a special VIP at one of the Oscars' gifting suites.

At first glance, one might have thought that this fashion forward teen is all about fashion. And although she does have an interest in clothes as most girls her age do, she's also athletic and enjoys outdoorsy activities like hiking and camping. Ashley appears to be the kind of person who is always prepared for and/or quick to adjust to whatever occasion she finds herself in.

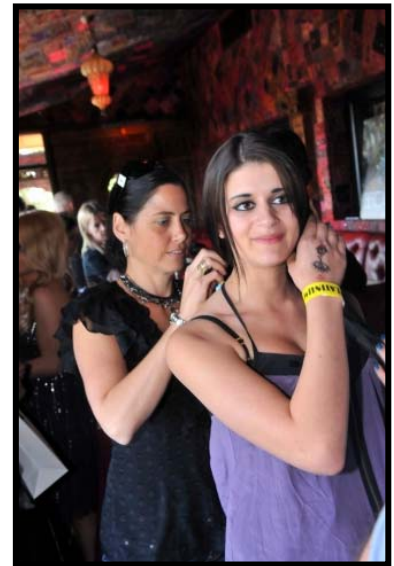

Today was about socializing Tinseltown-style and this expressive and engaging teen schmoozed with the others in attendance at this posh event. From signing her name next to celebrities' on a t-shirt to be auctioned off to raise money for relief efforts in Haiti to trying out new product, sizing up clothes and getting tips on hair care, Ashley asked very pertinent consumer questions to all of the vendors.

It's easy to see why Ashley has so many friends. She describes herself as a very loyal friend and a good listener. Perhaps this is why Ashley's interested in a career as a therapist – or at least playing one in the movies if she catches the acting bug after today's adventure!

We walked the red carpet with Ashley and had a blast, but after all the glitz and glamour of “red-carpet moments” dies it's a forever family that Ashley needs to walk by her side down life's pathway. We're currently casting for the role of that forever family for Ashley, so if you feel that this is a role that you could fulfill – let us know and we'll do what we can to help you give an award-winning performance in the Best Supportive Family category.
