Freddie Mac Foundation's
Wednesday's Child

In their own way, all of the children on Wednesday's Child are stars, but periodically we call upon some additional "star power" to work with our kids who really have a passion for acting and drama. So when we learned that Jessie, born in 1995, has already performed in plays and that she hopes to be an actor in television or film, we set out to work some magic that would help nurture Jessie's interest. To help make an impact, we took a trip to Waverly Place and met up with David Henrie, star of Disney Channel's Wizards of Waverly Place.

Jessie got to meet and talk with the cast of the show and walk around the set. It's likely that she even discovered some "insider secrets" to the show and hints of upcoming plots – but like others "in the know", Jessie's lips are sealed (and so are ours).

Jessie enjoyed being on the set of the hit television show for a day and meeting and getting pointers from its stars. We're looking forward to the day when Jessie finds herself in the home setting of and surrounded by the supportive "cast" of an adoptive family she can call her own.

Becoming an actor and finding success in that field takes more than just skill and Jessie's aware of that. Jessie wants to go to college and currently views becoming a lawyer as a "plan B" to the acting thing. Jessie does very well in school and has a well-rounded array of interests. In addition, she's outgoing, athletic and has that "go-getter" mentality.

With a lot of the "right stuff" going for her, Jessie still needs a supportive and loving family to be there for her, unconditionally, as she works her way through life's many auditions, roles and accomplishments. If you think that Jessie might fit the part within your family line-up, please have your people contact our people.
