Freddie Mac Foundation's
Wednesday's Child

This week's Wednesday's Child is Lizbeth, an active and inquisitive young girl who loves to play dress up and who has quite the sticker collection. We brought Lizbeth to The Grove in Los Angeles and thanks to our friends at Mattel she was able to pick out her very own American Girl Doll at American Girl Place. In the end the doll that Lizbeth chose to take home to play dress up with could almost be described as a "mini-Lizbeth."

Choosing the right doll can be hard work, even for a young lady like Lizbeth who was born in 2000. There are so many things to consider and a connection should be felt. But as we made our way through the store it was just a matter of time before Lizbeth found the doll that was meant to be hers. Likewise, we know it's just a matter of time before Lizbeth catches the attention of the family that's meant for her. Perhaps they will be watching Wednesday's Child and will take the first step in making a connection by calling us.

When it came to naming her doll, that part seemed easier for Lizbeth as she named the doll “Liz”. Lizbeth found some perfect little outfits for Liz as well as a little toy pet dog for Liz. Lizbeth took great care in dressing up her doll, making sure everything was on straight and that she had the perfect shoes as well. Symbolic perhaps of what she would like in a permanent family -- someone to pay attention to details that matter to her and help with things that she needs to grow and realize her own potential.

Wednesday’s Child is about finding permanent families for kids who sometimes have been overlooked or have had to grow up too fast in order to meet some of their own needs. While Lizbeth may enjoy taking care of her doll, she remains in need of a permanent family to take care of her. If Lizbeth catches your attention and you have the heart and home for a young girl who for now just wants to be a kid, please take the first step in making the connection and call us.
