Freddie Mac Foundation's
Wednesday's Child

Virginia, Evelio and Jasmin are like three peas in a pod -- which is fitting for this week's Wednesday's Child segment. Nothing says home and family more than gathering around the kitchen and cooking together. To facilitate this, Master Chef Leslie McKenna opened up her place -- Chefs Inc -- and invited this loving sibling set to an afternoon of filling the kitchen with sharing and caring, food and fun.

On the menu today was pizza and cup cakes -- a combination ANY child would love. From making the dough, letting it rise and dressing the raw pizza with fresh ingredients, these three kids took to it like naturals. And when it came time for the more artistic decorating of cupcakes, each member of this family had a creative flair of their own.

Virginia, born in 1995, proved to be both the fashionable and the health-conscious one. Her pizza was filled with fresh veggies and a minimal amount of cheese. She has a fashionable flair all her own and tells us that she's never been apart from her siblings and would want them around her always. She's the nurturing big sister and has no problems expressing what she feels. An active and engaging young lady, Virginia also enjoys athletics, dancing and singing. She hopes to start a choir with the help of her teacher at school.

Born in 1996, Evelio is very engaging and, as you can see, can quickly light up the room with his smile. Also athletic, he recently finished a season of Pop Warner Tackle Football. He enjoyed the experience and wants to play again next season. Evelio has a great sense of humor and is a very easy-going kid to get to know.

Jasmin was born in 2000 and is a very sweet and quiet young girl. Jasmin is initially shy; however, once she warms up she is very talkative. This little one is a multi-tasker and you can often find her doing several things at once.

It's important to keep these three together because, ultimately, the connection they have with one another is uniquely theirs and will outlast many people, places and things that will come and go. We're looking for a family that can fold this trio into their medley. If this trio seems like just the right blend to add to your family recipe, please give us a call.
